GRAND CONCERT BY ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY TONIGHT

Will be Under the Patronage of His Honor Lt.-Governor
Bulyea.

PROGRAM WILL BE ONE
OF THE BEST SEEN HERE

Society Attends Divine Worship at First Presbyterian Church.

This evening at 8 o'clock in the Bible auditorium, under the auspices of the St. Andrew's Society of Edmonton-Governor and Mrs. G. J.
Bulyea, will be given a concert which is of generous length and excellence in the various numbers, will easily compensate for the kind attention accorded to it.

Yesterday, November 26, was properly St. Andrew's day, but for real St. Andrew's day, that does not constitute a reason for doing without a concert.
A precedent was easily found in the history of the world's most famous Scottish societies, the London Scottish Corporation. According to the charter of this society, if St. Andrew's day should fall on a Sunday, then the usual celebration must take place the following day. The Society of Edmonton decided from the fact that Edmonton should not be outside of London, and as a result, the celebration of yesterday is to be supplemented tonight by 22 members of an excellent singing, dancing and dramatic society, who were sent to make a Scotch evening successful on a Scotchman's homestead.

The program arranged for this evening is as follows:

- Part One
- Conductor: "The Thistle" ... Middleton
Turner's Orchestra.
- Harmonization—March ...
St. Andrew's Society and Band
Pipe-Major S. McKinnon
- Song—The Bonnie Macgregor ...

taining the freedom of young people in the streets and places of amusement.

SMELTER RECEIPTS ARE HEAVY.

Nelson, Dec. 1—Although the number of properties situated was smaller than in previous years the receipts at first smelter continued heavy last week. During these seven days 12,000 tons of material and Boundary shipped 8,115 tons, bringing the consolidated receipts for the year to date to 327,000 tons.

Gravel receipts at the Grand Forks smelter last week were also heavy, the total, which will verify the qualitative aspects of the question, for the eleven months to 1,127,000 tons.

NORWEGIANS HOLD VERY SUCCESSFUL MINDEGAVEFESTEN

Are Urged to Maintain the Purity of Their Language in Canada.

WILL DISCUSS TOPICS OF IMPORTANCE TONIGHT

Enquiries Regarding the Franchise Will be the Subject of Addresses.

The festival held by the Sons of Norway on Friday evening was a great success in every way. The hall was crowded with people and every part of the program was well received. The refreshments were served by the Sons, and all the Dauslitters had to do was to enjoy them.

Among the notable speakers present was Prof. Solheim, of the Norwegian Lutheran college at Canmore, who reviewed the history of the Norwegians in Alberta. He told of the important part their countrymen have played in the public affairs of the country to the south of the line, and urged that they make themselves felt in Canada.

Mr. Eickstein, a former resident of Edmonton, in the employ of the telephone department, but now circulation manager of Canada's Scandinavian press, listed in Vancouver, spoke of the importance of maintaining the Norwegian language in its purity and of not letting it mix with English, which so many are apt to do.

Rev. Mr. Nelson, of the United church in Edmonton, advised all to contribute freely to the gift which the children of dear old Norway will send home next summer.

Following the advice of Professor Solheim that they make themselves felt in public affairs, it was announced that a meeting will be held at the same place this (Monday) evening at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of discussing questions of vital importance to all who wish to take an intelligent part in the elections and to exercise their franchise in a manner that will represent their views in an intelligent manner. The subjects which will be discussed are as follows:

What qualifies a man to vote (man meaning also woman) in a dominion election or in an Edmonton election?

How can a man know he has a vote in an Edmonton election?

Who prepares the voters' list?

What can a man do to be allowed to vote when he is entitled to do so, although his name is not on the voters' list?

What qualifies a man to one vote in Edmonton; to two votes; to three votes; to four votes?

What is the difference in the following three forms of city government:—

a Mayor and council?

b Mayor, council and commissioners?

c Elected commissioners?

Should the Scandinavians organize themselves into separate political organizations?

If so, what kind?

Malcolm M. Charlson, barrister; Wm. Short, mayor and candidate for re-election, and W. J. McNamara, candidate for mayor, will be the speakers.

It is expected that the hall will be crowded, and those who wish to secure seats should go early.

MISSIONARY WORK PROCEEDING VERY SATISFACTORILY

United Lutheran Church Appoints Committees for Various Purposes.

Rev. O. T. Nelson of the Norwegian United Lutheran church of America, who came here November and took charge of the missionary work amongst his people in Edmonton, is proceeding very satisfactorily. He is holding regular services at 1044 Kinsington avenue and has a Sunday school which meets immediately after the morning service. A young people's society has been organized by the election of temporary officers and the appointment of the following committees: One for the purpose of gathering funds for a Christmas tree, which will be held in the evening of Christmas day; one for the purpose of drafting rules and by-laws, who will report at the next meeting to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. Nelson, 222 Doyle street. The third committee is for the purpose of investigating and reporting to the same meeting as to the cost of an organ which the young people have decided to buy for the congregation.

The ladies aid met at the home of Rev. O. T. Nelson, 507 Kirkness street last Thursday and elected officers. Those chosen were Mrs. O. T. Nelson, president; Mrs. P. H. Hauka, vice-president; Mrs. Oswald Eickstein, secretary, and Mrs. John Stephenson, treasurer. The next meeting will be held Thursday, December 11, at the home of Mrs. John Stephenson, 155 Second avenue S. W., Edmonton South.

TO REPOPULATE WITH BISON.
New York, Dec. 1.—To repopulate the West as much as possible with the great animals that once abounded there the bison, 14, blooded American bison have been shipped from Great Park here, where they were born, to Red Springs, South Dakota, where they will be turned on the extensive range of the Wind Cave national park. The bison are expected to arrive at Red Springs on Wednesday.

Young, Penn., L. half B.
Tandberg, Wisconsin, full-back.

New York, Dec. 1.—The All-American Football Team for the season of 1927 presents an aggregation of remarkable strength when you take into consideration the calibre of the men who make up the personnel of the first eleven and the unusual number of available substitutes, ready to take the place of any of the first eleven in a moment's notice.

The West as well as the East have for their consistent performance earned places of honor. In fact the front of the football during the past season has opened the eyes of football experts to the great possibilities of the new, open style of football. The level of offense used to the East showed a superior defense. The end of the past season were of ordinary class. So far as the football seen such a wealth of rich diversity.

O'Brien of Harvard is the first selection. He has been more consistent in his play than any of his rivals. Of good build and with a powerful physique, he has been in covering kicks and never misses a tackle. He has left his feet for the most part, and never allowing the opposing backs to get him in or out of him by a delayed pass. In covering plays, he has performed with the opposite, only he is without a peer.

At the other extreme is placed Avery of Yale. Not playing in the early season, he was capable of, he nevertheless showed his true calibre in a game against Yale. He was a player that would only get his supreme effort in his work when he thought it necessary. He did not excel in open field play combined with that natural ability to shut down the line, he is what has earned for him the place of honor.

Wagner of Pittsburgh is a player who could assume all the responsibilities of the end position and perform masterfully. As an open field player and close defender of the position he is a choice selection. Avery or O'Brien but lacks a little of their experience.

Crane, in opening holes for his backs, he was without an equal. Closely contesting the positions with these two offensive players are Storer of Harvard, Butler of Wisconsin, Butler of Yale and Reed of Cornell. Storer and Butler, All-American selections for last year did not put the same amount of effort into their game as they were capable of doing. Storer probably was handicapped by a great desire to the responsibility of being captain and also being selected about during the season. He is an exceptional man and deserves a great amount of credit. Butler played on an aggregation that did not come up to the standard and has not done handily with his mediocre side partners.

Among the other tackles whose work stood out prominently were Phillips of Princeton, Wilson of Harvard, Fletcher of Purdue, Wynn of West Point, Warren of Yale, Kirk of Iowa, and Clifford of the Michigan "Aggies."

The guard, one of the average ability, perhaps the "hesitating guard" defense, placed the men by the coaches during the past season had considerable to do with the more or less average ability displayed by the guards. The leading player among the guard of the class and Sanford type was Nelson.

Brown of the Navy came closer to perfection at the position than any other player. Standing six feet in height and built in proportion Brown was a hawk in defense. On offense his game did not suffer in comparison, possessing speed and ability to break all of his opponents in defense. He was a player that could not be taken off the field by a change in the play.

Penick of Harvard, his tall and massive yet in way change, is placed at the other guard position. This player was more of a consistent performer, whose work was more appreciated by the coaches on the sidelines than the spectacular in the hands of the "stunt man" type. He was a steady charger who never failed to do his own work. In a proper manner, he was always willing to lead a helping hand of the man who played on either side of him. On defense he proved to be invaluable as the rock of the player.

Munn of Cornell was a player that suffered because of the inability of his team mates and on a stronger team he would have stood out more prominently. Journey of Pennsylvania proved his worth at all times and deserves considerable credit for his consistent showing. Hawk of Yale, leader of the Wisconsin, Boston of Penn. State, O'Brien of Wisconsin, Penick of Yale, Brooks of Calgate, Butler of Calgate, Mulligan of Michigan, Heaton of Minnesota, Clark of Virginia and the rest of the team.

STALWART GRIDIRON WARRIORS OF MILITARY AND NAVAL ACADEMIES

When West Point meets Annapolis on the Gridiron, there is always something doing. The Army eleven, game was no exception to this rule. Above are pictured four of Uncle Sam's warriors, who battled at the Polo Grounds in New York, for the honor of their schools.

At the point position were men of only a few inches less than average. The passing word of the centermen during the game was to keep the line in a tight line and time again would the chances of their respective schools. The game was more true in the case of the centermen. To offset this work of the centermen, the defense was forced to be allowed to play a "roving" game their work stood out very prominent and called for much praise.

Reichman of Yale, the greatest of the "roving" men in the country today, is given the preference over his closest rivals. He has performed with his greatest skill during his season as he has in the other stars in the country. He is a player that would only get his supreme effort in his work when he thought it necessary. He did not excel in open field play combined with that natural ability to shut down the line, he is what has earned for him the place of honor.

Wagner of Pittsburgh is a player who could assume all the responsibilities of the end position and perform masterfully. As an open field player and close defender of the position he is a choice selection. Avery or O'Brien but lacks a little of their experience.

SPECTACULAR GAME RESULTS IN ARMY BEATING THE NAVY

Score is 22 to 9—Completely Outplayed in the Opening Period of the Fray, the Cadets Sweep the Sailors Off Their Feet in the Second Half of the Contest.

New York, Dec. 1.—The Army football team furnished a spectacular and interesting finale to the eastern football season of 1927 by defeating the Navy eleven at the Polo Grounds Saturday by a score of 22 to 9.

Completely outplayed during the opening period of the game, the cadets swept the sailors off their feet in the second half of the contest by a combination of brilliant individual play and open team play that quickly rolled up an overwhelming lead.

With victory in sight for the first time in four years, the West Point team scored rapidly and finished the game with a total that had not been exceeded by either academy in 10 years. Despite the complete annihilation of the Navy eleven and its hope of a fourth consecutive victory over the Army, the game was fought out desperately until the closing moment, and the sailors went down with flying colors.

From a technical football standpoint, the playing of both sides and the contest was a real battle between the two academies. Much of the work of the individual players was done when the battle reached its height, and there was the usual man to man struggle, with football teams work more or less forgotten.

From the standpoint of the spectators, however, the game and its setting, most nothing of its thrilling grip and interest as a result, and the down pour of rain, the game was a real battle between the two academies.

During the 60 minutes of the play the Navy eleven failed to show the consistent advancing power that brought them seven victories in his scores in the eight preliminary games of the season.

While the Army did not as a team diagnose the attack successfully, the desperate charging and tackling of the cadets upset the interference and brought down the runner with little or no gain.

Nichols, who played under the severe handicap of running the team and the ball, repeatedly was outplayed by Jones, and the Army ends covered his punts better than did the midday wing tips.

Those two knockdowns in the third down considerably took the wind out of the fight. If you remember, I believed I would be lucky to get the ball. My little thing worries me, and that bustled right took the fight out of me. This is no bluff, this is a real battle, and I am sure, if you remember, I was only too glad to admit it after the fight."

Montreal, Dec. 1.—At a special meeting of the National Hockey Association held here it was decided to revise the playing schedule about a week ago at a meeting held in Toronto. The drafting of the new arrangement of dates has been left to President T. Emmett Quinn. The schedule was the only important matter discussed at the meeting.

Winnipeg, Dec. 1.—The University of Alberta has wired the secretary of the intercollegiate hockey association here accepting the latter's offer of a guarantee for a game at the auditorium on Christmas night, and the inter-collegiate contest is now assured, provided, of course, that the present mellow weather does not continue for another three weeks.

The local colleagues are very enthusiastic over the prospect of a game with Alberta. Nothing has been decided yet about the way in which the local all-stars will be selected, and a meeting of the inter-collegiate association will necessarily be held in a few days when a captain and selection committee will be chosen and arrangements made for a few preliminary practices.

United States consumers buy $229, 875,000 worth of furniture yearly.

At least are given the preference, and men as well as the first runners as well as free line players. Baker of Princeton, McKinnon of Minnesota, McReavey of Annapolis, and Washington and Jefferson, Annapolis of Yale, Oregon of Chicago, Clark of Virginia, Braden of Harvard, Julian of Michigan, and the rest of the team.

At full-back Brodsky of Harvard stands head and shoulders over his opponents. He is the most valuable man in football today. Excelling at all requirements of the game, he is a real battle between the two academies.

Nichols of Notre Dame, Tansher of Wisconsin, Maule of Pennsylvania, Clark of Calgate, Shaulhesser of Minnesota, Street of Princeton, Forster of Missouri, Ansel of Tufts, Bonn of Dickinson, Hinton or Thrity, Schwartz of Calgate and McKinnon of Iowa, are also men that could stand a great amount of punishment and still remain in a creditable manner.

With the above named team and with the rest of the team, the game was a real battle between the two academies.
